Your comments

It is not considered necessary to include a specific policy in the AONB DPD to prescribe how particular housing needs (aside from starter homes and affordable housing subject to its forthcoming revised definition in national policy) should be met. Housing developers and specialist providers will deliver homes to meet specialist needs in the locations where they are needed, including retirement living, older persons' housing, assisted living / extra care and residential care, and proposals should be assessed on their merit on a case by case basis using development management policies.
