Dear Ladies and gentlemen,

Hopefully you will be able to accept constructive criticism, in respect of your intended policies for building houses etc. in the Kendal area. As an older Kendal man born and bred, and having seen the destruction of Kendal, from a pleasant Lakeland market town, into a sprawling mess of a huge housing estate. Kendal cannot take anymore houses, the town is congested as it is, with no parking, a town centre full of fumes, no public toilets, nothing to attract visitors! As a planning authority, do you take into account all the apartments and flats plus all the houses built on any piece of ground that will accommodate a building, when you dictate how many houses Kendal needs in the foreseeable future?

I also wonder when you will build extra sewage facilities, new catchment and storage for all the extra water needed, bigger schools, bigger hospital, more roads etc.? I notice that affordable housing is on the agenda when I was at school (affordable was what someone could afford to pay) eventually coming on to the open market at a full price!

Hopefully common sense can prevail, before another nail is put into poor old Kendal's coffin and you have to live with the thought I DID THAT!

I thank you for reading my letter and perhaps giving my writings some consideration.

Yours Faithfully
